TAX LIST OF GREENE COUNTY, STATE OF TENNESSEE, FOR THE YEAR 1783

By Louise Wilson Reynolds

THE following tax list is perhaps the oldest county tax assessment of the state in existence. The original, like many court records of value to genealogists, has been carelessly misplaced or destroyed and is no longer accessible. With few exceptions the men whose names appear on the list were Revolutionary soldiers and patriots. It is impossible in these short notes to mention but a few of the early families. They may, however, be classed as those residing in Washington County during the Revolutionary War, and those who emigrated to the settlements at the close of hostilities.

Greene County, prior to 1783, was a part of Washington County. In 1783 it contained within its boundaries much of the territory later subdivided into other counties of eastern and middle Tennessee, and western North Carolina. In 1783 there were no settlements between Knoxville and Nashville. In 1785 Adam Meek had built his cabin farthest westward, but civilization had not reached the present Knox Co. border.

The settlers of Greene County were known as the "Nollichucky Settlers." Many of them had settled on the "Brown purchase"—land bought from the Indians by Jacob Brown. Jacob Brown was a major in the Revolution. He was born in South Carolina, and died in Tennessee in 1785. Among his descendants was the late Governor Aaron Brown, of Tennessee.

The Nollichucky settlers were famous as riflemen. A company under Captain Robert Sevier ranged the frontier intimidating the Indians and tarring and feathering any Tory who ventured within the "settlements." Captain Sevier was killed at the Battle of Kings Mountain, and his sharpshooters were sent to help defend the frontier of South Carolina from Cornwallis.

In answer to the often asked query, "Who fought at Kings Mountain?" it may be stated that every able-bodied man who was at that time in Washington County, which included Greene County, accompanied the Kings Mountain expedition. The frontier was left defenseless except for the women and children. Colonel Sevier returning in haste to their aid, met and defeated the Indians at Boyd's Creek.

Many of the Washington County men were regularly enlisted with the North Carolina Continental Line or with the Virginia Militia; many had participated in the Georgia Campaign, and had fought under Sumter and Marion in South Carolina. Many of the younger men under Shelby and Sevier refused to return home after the victory of Kings Mountain, but joined General Greene, and were present at the "Surrender of Yorktown." Among the latter was Captain, later Colonel, Samuel Wear. The Wear family came from Bucks County, Pennsylvania. Samuel Wear was a border hero; he is said to have killed six Indians single-handed on an expedition against the Chickamauga Indians. He moved from Greene County to Sevier County and was one of the first Tennessee Representatives.

About 1782 a number of families from Pennsylvania emigrated to Greene County. Among these were the Galbreaths, Rankins, Magills, Delaneys, Wilsons, Moores and McClungs. These were mostly Presbyterian families, and were related by marriage. The men had served in the Pennsylvania Line, some of them in the "Ranging Companies," and had perhaps been with Christian on his expedition against the Cherokees in 1777. The late Colonel Roosevelt in his "Winning of the West" mistakes the route taken by this army; the route lay near the present Greene and Cock Counties border.

Early land grants are spoken of as "lying near the Christian Warpath." Among the families residing in this section were the Nelsons, Vances, Crosbys, Inmans, Casteels, Pates, Jones and Conways.

The first pioneers in Greene County settled on Hollys Creek, Sinking Creek, and Stony Creek, and the Limestone Branch near the Washington County line. Among these were the Gillespies, Crocketts (father and uncle of David Crockett), Henry Ernest, whose son, Felix, is said to have been standard-bearer at Kings Mountain, Francis Hughes, Nathan Davis, Ashael Rawlings and Colonel Daniel Kenedy, first clerk of the court, and Amos Byrd, son of the haughty aristocrat of "Westover" Manor in Virginia.

In 1783 North Carolina by an Act of the Assembly ordered land to be surveyed in the unsettled portions of Greene County for the benefit of soldiers who had served in the North Carolina Continental Line. Unfortunately there was no way to determine who received the subsequent grants for Revolutionary service. The so-called "Frontier Colonels," as termed by Colonel Roosevelt, seem to have been treated with generosity by North Carolina. James Hubbard, whose murder of the Cherokee Chief, "Old Corntassel," brought on an Indian war, received two thousand acres on the Tennessee River. General Nathaniel Greene, for whom the county was named, received twenty-five thousand acres. There is a tradition that he was making preparations to locate on this grant at the time of his death. Major David Wilson, for whom Wilson County was named, received two thousand acres on the Duck River. David Kerr, the crippled spy, who did such active service as a scout at Kings Mountain, received seventy thousand acres in the present White County.

There was quite a sprinkling of Maryland families among the early settlers. The Howards Weltys, De Witts, Hills and Gists were from Maryland.

Following the Revolution a number of men who served under Colonel Campbell in Washington County, Virginia, moved into Greene County. Among the latter were Colonel Arthur Campbell, the Craigs, Blackburns, sons of William Blackburn, who was killed at Kings Mountain, and the Edmondstons.

The Beards, Armstrongs, Francis Ramsay, Charles McClung, Meeks, and others on the tax list of 1783 were among this number, who shortly afterwards settled near White's Fort, the present city of Knoxville.

Among the men whose descendants have attained prominence may be mentioned Isaac Taylor, Henry Conway, John Crockett, Major Temple, Isaac Barton, Shadrack Inman and John McAdoo—sometimes spelled McAdou or McAdow. There were three early Inmans, Shadrack, Meshac and Abednego, sons, perhaps, of the heroic Shadrack Inman who sacrified his life in the ambush of Thickety Fort in North Carolina.

John McAdoo and McAdoo, Junior, resided on a grant of ninety-five acres in Washington County. Later John McAdoo received a larger grant, probably as payment for Revolutionary service, near Mossy Creek in the present county of Jefferson.

Among the early North Carolina families were the Loves, Whites, Alexanders, Balches and Vances. The Rev. Hezekiah Balch was one of the earliest and ablest ministers and educators. He was a graduate of Princeton and a signer of the Mecklenburg "Declaration of Independence." A daughter of Hezekiah Balch married Robert Wylie, a Revolutionary soldier, and one of the first merchants in the county. The inventory of his stock includes knee-buckles, snuff-boxes, pleasure chairs and raccoon skins. The personal estate brought eleven thousand dollars, which was quite a goodly sum at that date on the frontier.

The earliest will on record is that of Robert Gamble. The executors were Major Temple and Samuel Bogle. The latter lived to be ninety years of age, and many of his reminiscences of early Tennessee history form the basis of narratives found in Ramsay's "Annals of Tennessee."

Frederick De Witt, Isaac Taylor, Thomas Love, James Galbraith, James Dinwiddie and Colonel Daniel Kenedy are some of the early deaths recorded.

Among the first benedicts were Abner Lee, Samuel Edmondston, John Chestnut, Evan Jones, Archibald Alexander, William Wilson, Christopher Hoover, Nathaniel Hood, James McGee, William King, John Hinds, David Campbell, William Sidwell, Alexander Blackburn, Joseph St. John, Alexander Montgomery, John Gist, Mathew Sample and Thomas Temple.

The Keykendall family was one of the earliest and most numerous. One brother fell at Kings Mountain, and the family of another, supposed to be Matthew of the tax-list, was exterminated by the Indians. The place the tragedy occurred is still pointed out by old citizens, and is known as "The Burnt Cabin Site."

Still another massacre was that of the family of William Casteel. This is depicted in history as one of the most horrible in frontier annals.

Many of the early families had one or more members to hold the lands still disputed but given by treaty to North Carolina. Colonel Daniel Kenedy had three sons killed by the Indians; a fourth taken captive was adopted into the tribe, and married a Cherokee.

The Woolseys, Dotsons, Ellis', Lyles, Carters, Randolphs and others came from the older counties of Virginia. The Burgners, Neeces, Gurtners (Girdners) and Smelcers are numbered among the Dutch families that are found early in Green County.

The Rev. William McClung in his "History of the McClung Family," having traced Hugh McClung, one of the three brothers, from Ireland to Pennsylvania, and from Pennsylvania to Augusta County, Virginia, finds no trace of him there later than 1775, when, with Francis McClung, he makes conveyance of a tract of land at that date. The presumed widow of Francis in 1776 donates two horses to the American Army. Hugh McClung probably returned to Pennsylvania, after having purchased land on the Borden Grant. His daughter was married to a neighbor of Mathew McClung in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, in 1769.

In 1782 Hugh McClung, accompanied by his nephew, Colonel Charles McClung, and his daughters and their husbands' people, came to Greene County, Tennessee. His deed for nine thousand acres of land lay on the Tennessee River below Knoxville. He never settled on this grant, but lived on a tract of land in the "Nollichucky Settlements." He died n 1789 leaving a legacy to his daughter Susan, and estate to his wife, Elisabeth, and son, John McClung. Francis, evidently another son, had died in Greene County in 1786, and John McClung was executor of the estate.

The author of the "McClung Family" sought for Hugh McClung among the records of Pennsylvania and Virginia. The object of his search lived and died in a neighboring county in Tennessee.

It is hoped that the tax list of 1783 will aid in locating other lost ancestors of this "Early Tennessee Frontier."

BOOK REVIEWS

Fifth Hardsham Historical Collections. Volumes i and ii, published in 1901 and 1902. Contents: Unpublished list of soldiers, list of emigrants, marriage bonds, death notices, all kinds of court records, family sketches and valuable genealogies; all original documents. Only a few on hand Vol. i, price, $5.00, vol. ii, price, $5.50 Volume iii. Contents: All marriages, wills, deeds, etc., in eighteen Georgia counties organized before 1796; also Logan's Manuscript History of UpperCarolina,containing hundreds of names. Price, $5.00.

These three volumes of historical collections have been found invaluable with reference to Southern families, descendants of the early settlers of Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia. They are a necessary addition to any reference library and are of great value to all interested in genealogical research.

The Book of Lincoln. Compiled by Mary Wright Davis. Published by George H. Doran Company, New York. $2.50.

No figure in American history has loomed up in such majestic proportions since the day the war began as that of Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln's vision, his philosophy, his attitude toward war and the means of securing a just peace, have been on the lips of British, French, and American statesmen from month to month during the last five years.

Mrs. Davis has brought together in this volume the tributes of the world to Lincoln, and in a very real sense the picture of him that grows out of this volume is a world picture, international in its authorship and immortal in its truth. The book contains the most complete collection of poetic tributes to Lincoln, and is illustrated from photographs.

Dear Mrs. Nolan,

Thank you for your supplemental for new ancestor, Francis Delaney. We need more information from you to prove service and lineage for this ancestor. The lineage issue is the same as addressed in Ms. Seacord's letter to you today regarding the lineage of ancestor John Delaney for generations 6 and 7. In addition, you did not provide any proof of service for Francis Delaney.

Owning land or receiving a land grant is not the same process as making a land entry. In this case, you proved with the tax list that Francis Delaney owned land in 1781, not that he made the initial claim to the property during the appropriate time period, e.g. made a land entry between 1 Jan 1778 – 26 Nov 1783. Only the person actually making the land entry took the Oath of Allegiance. In this case, Francis Delaney could have owned the property long before the Revolution or he could have purchased it from the person who made the land entry. The traditional sources used to prove land entries are listed in the NSDAR publication, Is That Service Right? Since you did not provide the required proof of service, I checked all of the listed sources for patriotic, civil, or military service without success.

I suggest that you contact the Washington Co., and Greene Co., TN Registrar of Deeds for assistance. Greene Co. was created from Washington Co. on 18 Apr 1783, so the land records could be in either county. Since Tennessee was part of North Carolina until 1796, some of these records may be found at either the Tennessee State Library and Archives in Nashville, the Land Office in Raleigh, North Carolina, or on microfilm at the North Carolina State Archives in North Carolina. Court records may be helpful to prove either patriotic, military or civil service and may be found at either the county level or in the state archives.

MINUTES OF THE COURT OF PLEAS AND QUARTER SESSIONS, COUNTY COURT

VOLUME 1, 1778-1799, WASHINGTON COUNTY, NC - TN

Names abstracted for genealogical purposes by Loraine B. Rae, Route 14, Box 571, Jonesborough, TN 37659.

As I abstracted this volume, I wondered why so much information was left in an unfinished state--cases listed but no disposition, sentences which stopped in the middle, etc. The statement which follows was at the end of the book and undoubtedly accounts for most of this. In other places, the copier, in true Victorian style, embellished the writing with so many scrolls and curliques, it was impossible to read.

> I Jacob Leab Clerk of the County Court of Washington County hereby certify that the forgoing transcript of the early records of said County is substantially Correct. It being impossible to make a perfect transcript of said Records in consequence of the mutilated condition of many (sic) parts of same and illegible character and condition of the writing therein. Witness my hand and seal this 15th day of Oct 1887.

WASHINGTON AND SULLIVAN COUNTIES, (TENNESSEE), REVOLUTIONARY WAR STUB INDENT BOOKS

By Haywood Roebuck

During the American Revolution, North Carolina had no ready money with which to pay for personnel or material in order to carry on the war. To overcome this impasse, the state issued slips of paper called certificates or vouchers in lieu of money. The intention of this scheme was to redeem these notes for petty debts when money became available. As it developed, however, enough money was never found to discharge these small debts, and the state eventually redeemed the vouchers by accepting them as payment for taxes and for fees involved in securing land grants. Sets of volumes, called account books were kept in order to record the issuing of vouchers and their surrender for taxes and land fees.

In 1781, the state appointed auditors in each of six multi-county districts to adjust and settle public claims against the state. The western country (subsequently the state of Tennessee) was first in Salisbury District. In 1782, however, a special sub-district was created specifically for the two western country counties, Washington and Sullivan; Anthony Bledsoe, Landon Carter, and Edmund Williams were commissioned the Board of Auditors, and John Sevier served as secretary to the board.

In 1935, Mrs. Penelope Johnson Allen, then state vice regent of the Tennessee Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, carefully went through the first twelve volumes of the "Revolutionary Army Account Books" in the North Carolina State Archives. She listed every name which she could positively identify as representing persons who received vouchers or certificates from the board of auditors for Washington and Sullivan counties--Bledsoe, Carter, and Williams. These results were published by the Tennessee Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, as pages 9 through 32 of her paper bound book, Tennessee Soldiers in the Revolution. Since this publication, five small stub indent books containing the stubs of the vouchers or certificates issued by these three auditors have come to light. These books, located in the North Carolina State Archives among the military series of the Treasurer's and Comptroller's Records (shelf mark, T&C Mil 35), include many names which could not be identified by Mrs. Allen in 1935 as settlers in Washington and Sullivan counties. Consequently, the following abstracts which contain all information, except the amount of accrued interest, found in the stub indent books is offered. A very full introduction to the pay accounts is to be found in Tennessee Soldiers in the Revolution and in the North Carolina State Archives' Information Circular No. 1.

Book 1, Heading: "An A(co)count of Specie Certificates paid into the Comptrollers Office by John Armstrong Entry Taker for Lands in North Carolina"

Specie certificates were issued to persons having claims against the State by the district boards of auditors, the county commissioners of specific taxes, and the commissioners appointed to settle the claims of the continental soldiers Certificates were issued for both military service and supplies furnished. They stated the amount due the claimant in specie, and bore interest. The State redeemed these certificates by several methods, one of which was the opening for entry of the western lands (now Tennessee). Western lands were opened to the citizens of the State for settlement, and title to the land was obtained by entering the lands with John Armstrong, entry taker at Hillsborough, having the lands surveyed, returning the survey to the Secretary of State, and receiving a grant from the office of the secretary. An entry fee of ten pounds per hundred acres was required, and it was through this fee that the State redeemed the certificates. Fees could be paid in specie, specie certificates, currency certificates reduced by the scale of depreciation, and other certificates as rated by law. When Armstrong settled his accounts with the State, these certificates were turned over to the Comptroller who checked them for overcharges, short charges, and counterfeits. Francis Child, Comptroller's clerk until 1785, entered the certificates in a ledger, listing the number of the certificate, the auditors or commissioner who issued the certificate, the claimant to whom it was granted, the date on which it was issued, the amount of the principal, the amount of the interest, to what date interest was calculated (this should be the date on which the certificate was redeemed), and the total value of the certificate. Also included in the listing of certificates is a column of remarks. The entry "no check" in this column probably means that no counter part to the certificate could be found. There is no date on the book, but the certificates were received by Armstrong from October 21, 1783 through October 25, 1784.

Book 2, Heading: "An Account of Specie Certificates paid into the Comptrollers Office by John Armstrong Entry Taker of Lands in North Carolina"

This book is a continuation of the above book and is of identical tenor. Certificates listed in this book were received by Armstrong from October 25, 1783 to October 27, 1783.

Book 3, Heading: "An Account of Specie Certificates paid into the Comptrollers Office by John Armstrong Entry Taker of Lands in North Carolina"

This book is a continuation of the above book and is of identical tenor. Certificates listed in this book were received by Armstrong from October 27, 1783, through December 4, 1783.

Book 4, Heading: "An Account of Specie Certificates paid into the Comptrollers Office by John Armstrong Entry Taker for Land in North Carolina"

This book is a continuation of the above book and is of identical tenor. Certificates listed in this book were received by Armstrong from December 6, 1783, through April 2, 1784.

Book 5, Heading: "An Account of Specie Certificates paid into the Comptrollers Office by John Armstrong Entry Taker for Land in North Carolina"

This book is a continuation of the above book and is of identical tenor. Certificates listed in this book were received by Armstrong from April 2, 1784, through May 20, 1784.

Thank you for your supplemental paper for Ancestor John Delaney.

I would like to see the complete record of the settlement of the estate of Gen. 7, David Paulsell, who died in Greene County, TN, before June 1847. Usually estate settlements named all heirs of the deceased.

We can verify that Gen. 6, Margaret Paulsell was married to Alexander Bailey.

The estate settlement of David, Delaney, the brother of Gen. 7, Elizabeth Delaney, wife of the above mentioned David Paulsell, does indicate that Elizabeth Delaney and David Paulsell were the parents of a daughter named Margaretta. However, because the estate settlement of David Delaney does not include Margaretta's married name, it cannot be used to verify that Gen. 6, Margaret Paulsell married to Alexander Bailey, is the daughter of Gen. 7, David Paulsell and Elizabeth Delaney.

I look forward to receiving the complete settlement of the estate of Gen. 7, David Paulsell.

Sincerely,

Penelope Seacord,
Staff Genealogist

ARTICLES

The Family of Sarah (Delaney) Gann

Sarah's grandfather, Francis Delaney, with his wife Agnes came to Tennessee from Pennsylvania, via Augusta County, Virginia, where Francis Delaney appears in court records in November 1766 and September 1768. Francis settled in 1777 in what was then Washington County, North Carolina (later becoming Greene County), taking by occupancy 250 acres on the Little Chucky River.

Francis and Agnes Delaney's son, James, came with them in 1777 to this new area and settled on Cedar Creek. James's brother, John D. Delaney, father of Sarah and Ruth Ann, purchased his first land grant in 1783, for 400 acres in Washington County on Sinking Creek. Later, in 1783, when Greene County was formed from Washington County, that boundary change placed the land occupied by the Delaneys in the new county. But, the property on Cedar Creek was only a little over four miles as the crow flies from Nathan Gann's farm, and the property on Sinking Creek about twice that far away.

Francis Delaney died in May 1784, leaving his wife, Agnes, three sons, and three daughters. His will was proven in court by the oaths of Philomon Higgins and John Delaney; the Court ordered that Letters Testamentary be granted to John and James Delaney as executors of their father's will. Five months later, in October 1784, his son, James, died.*

John D. Delaney lived until 1823 and was the father of 13 children, all born in Greene County. The identity of his wife or wives has not yet been determined.

The children of John D. Delaney were:

1. John Delaney, born March 4, 1783, in Washington (later Greene) County; married Ruth Sherrill April 30, 1810, in Greene County; he died by February 9, 1857, in Tennessee.
2. Daniel Delaney, born by 1784; married Elizabeth McGee; he may have died in Oregon.
3. Jacob Delaney, born December 19, 1790; married Sarah "Sally" Broyles, July 25, 1810, in Greene County; he died November 2, 1831.
4. Ruth Ann Delaney, born 1798, married William Gann in 1816 in Greene County; Ruth Ann (Delaney) Gann died January 12, 1837, in Nacogdoches County, Texas.
5. Sarah Delaney, born 1792; married Nathan Gann in 1817 in Roane County, Tennessee; Sarah (Delaney) Gann died April 9, 1856, Titus County, Texas.
6. Isaac Delaney, born 1793 Greene County, Tennessee; married December 13, 1815, to Rebecca Ann Morrison in Greene County, Tennessee.

7. Anne Delaney married George Davis March 5, 1799, in Greene County, TN.
8. David Delaney, died 1839 sans progeny (no children).
9. Elizabeth Delaney married David Paulsell July 24, 1790, in Greene County; Elizabeth (Delaney) Paulsell died by 1850.
10. Esther/Easter Delaney married 1802 in Greene County to Isaac Castner; Esther (Delaney) Castner died by 1822.
11. Jane "Jinny" Delaney married Hugh Kennedy October 17, 1818, in Greene County.
12. Margaret "Peggy" Delaney, married Jacob Casner 1811 in, Washington County; Margaret (Delaney) Casner died by 1823. Jacob Casner was bondsman for the marriage bond of William Gann and Ruth Ann Delaney in 1816.
13. Wesley Delaney died by 1850.

This family is particularly well documented because of a court case that focused on the estate of Sarah's father, John D. Delaney. Another court case that revealed still more about the family was filed in Greene County Circuit Court, June Term 1847:

John Delaney, heir at law, and distributee of David Delaney, dec'd.
v.
George Davis and Ann, his wife, formerly Ann Delaney, and others.

John and David Delaney were bothers of Sarah Delaney Gann. David had died unmarried and in this court case, his heirs contested the settlement of his estate. Both Sarah and Ruth Ann were identified in the David Delaney lawsuit.

In the February 1850 Term, the David Delaney suit, "John...v...David," named many of the heirs of John D. Delaney. Sarah was identified as "Sarah Delaney Gann, widow of Nathan Gann dec'd of Washington Co." The suit also named "Ruth Gann dec'd wife of Wm. Gann of Texas."

Further proof of Sarah (Delaney) Gann's parentage is found in her father's will. John Delaney of Greene County made his will on June 22, 1822. Among other provisions he made bequests to both Sarah and her sister, Ruth:

I give to my daughter Sarah Gann, Eighty seven dollars, which she has received of her portion & I also give unto her Sixty three dollars, to be equally divided between her two daughters, Jinny, & Pamelia, when they shall be of lawful age to receive it.

I bequeath my daughter Ruth Gann, one hundred & fifty dollars which she has received of her portion.

Sarah Delaney, Nathan's last wife

As previously stated, we know more about Nathan's last wife than all the others combined because she lived at a later period for which, generally, more records regarding women are available. She is an interesting individual and from a family closely allied with the Ganns.

Nathan married for the last time December 24, 1817, in Kingston, Roane County, Tennessee. It is unknown why the marriage took place in Kingston rather than in Greene County where Sarah Delaney's family lived, or Nathan's own Washington County.

A number of Delaney families lived along the Washington–Greene county line. They were certainly not unknown to the Gann families who lived just inside Washington County. This marriage was not the only Gann–Delaney connection. Nathan's son, William, had married Ruth Ann Delaney just the year before in August 1816. Ruth and Sarah were sisters, daughters of John Delaney of Greene County. Their brother, Jacob Delaney, married Sally Broyles whose family was also closely allied from a marriage with the Ganns in the previous generation.

Nathan might have met Sarah Delaney either at William and Ruth's wedding, during their courtship, or sometime after they were newly married. Nathan, newly widowed, may have started courting Sarah immediately as she was 25 years old and certainly of an age to consider marriage. Sarah was born about 1792 in Greene County, Tennessee.

> I bequeath my daughter Ruth Gann, one hundred & fifty dollars which she has received of her portion."

Sarah becomes a stepmother, then a mother of six

When Sarah Delaney married Nathan Gann, she became the stepmother of thirteen children, six of whom were her age or older. Nathan's two youngest children were still at home and were raised by Sarah: Solomon, born in 1798–99, and Lucinda, born in 1808. Sarah Gann was the mother of Nathan's last six known children: Anna Jane "Jenny," Permelia Catherine, Sampson Marion, Margaret Malinda, James Madison, and Sarah Sophronia Gann.

Sarah spent all of her married life on the Nathan Gann family farm on the south bank of the Nolichucky River. Her life, especially with the number of children in the home, would have centered heavily around providing food, clothing, and other basic items of daily life for them and Nathan. As mentioned previously, women at the time rarely appear in public records except in specific instances relating mostly to land, marriage, or probate. We have not located any public records naming Sarah between their marriage and Nathan's death, except the Delaney probate matters in Greene County. Sarah does appear in several public records as a widow, however.

From a private business record preserved in a public record (Nathan Gann's estate settlement), we can draw some information about part of Sarah's life. This record is the account of Nathan's family with the Broyles Store. This little, local store is probably where they did most of their trading for goods not produced at home. The account covers two years and contains much detail. It shows on July 4, 1837, that Sarah paid the balance on some shoes purchased previously. She did take time away from her labors at home to visit the store in person from time to time. The store was most likely near the Gann farm, perhaps at Brownsborough or Broylesville, as a number of Broyles families lived nearby.

Items purchased in the store were usually things which could not easily be produced at home. The account records purchases of a candlestick, a snuff box, combs, stockings, and gloves, among other things. Many of the items purchased were yard goods and notions for sewing. Sarah was undoubtedly quite busy along with her daughters making and mending the family's clothing. In the process, she purchased and used such items as needles, Turkey cotton, red calico, Tally velvet, and three-quarters yard of silk. From the small amount of yardage purchased of most of these "store bought" fabrics, it appears that Sarah was both frugal and creative. If she were making an entire garment out of the fabric purchased, it had to be for a small child, probably Sarah Sophronia, who would have been two years old when the fabric was purchased. If it was not being used for a complete garment, then perhaps Sarah was using it as trim to enhance the appearance of other garments made from homespun cloth woven by her and the girls in the home. Some of the new fabric purchased may have been used to supplement fabric salvaged from other garments. At that time, it was a common practice to remake an older garment to extend its life, or to restyle it, or to resize it for another family member. With such a household, Sarah undoubtedly practiced frugality. She did splurge on one occasion, however: in November 1838, she bought an entire bolt of cloth. Still frugal and practical, however, she settled for "domestic," rather than anything fancy.

On January 8, 1839 Sarah also purchased one ounce of indigo. Indigo was a dyestuff, used to produce a true blue color. Natural dyes could be harvested from the woods and garden on the home place to produe most other colors—red, greens, tans, browns, yellows—but a good, strong blue was difficult, almost impossible to achieve with natural dyestuffs. Indigo, a natural dye produced from plant materials, was not usually grown for home use and was generally purchased.

Perhaps Sarah and her daughters used the Indigo to dye some jeans cloth dark blue. Sarah occasionally brought to the store lengths of flax jeans cloth, a sturdy home-woven fabric. The value of this fabric was credited to the account toward the family's purchases on more than one occasion. Other items brought in for credit on the family's account also reflect the labors of Sarah and her daughters including two pounds of feathers; and along with apples, both pared and unpared.

Little else is known of Sarah's life as Mrs. Nathan Gann. She never appeared in court as a witness, plaintiff or defendant that we have found and was not involved in any land transactions. Her total concentration, the focus of all of her energies, appears to have been the care of her home and family.

Sarah becomes a widow

Nathan Gann died on Thursday, July 18, 1839, leaving Sarah (Delaney) Gann a widow at the age of 47. We know of five of the children who were still living in the home at the time of his death. The youngest three children were still under the age of 14 when their father died, and thus classified as minors. Hence, the law required that a guardianship be established for them. Women at that time were generally not considered qualified to be in full charge of legal and financial matters, such as a guardianship.

Ordered by court that E L Matthis Joshua Greene & Wm Patton be a committee to lay off to Sarah Gann Widow of Nathan Gann Dec'd One years allowance and report to next court

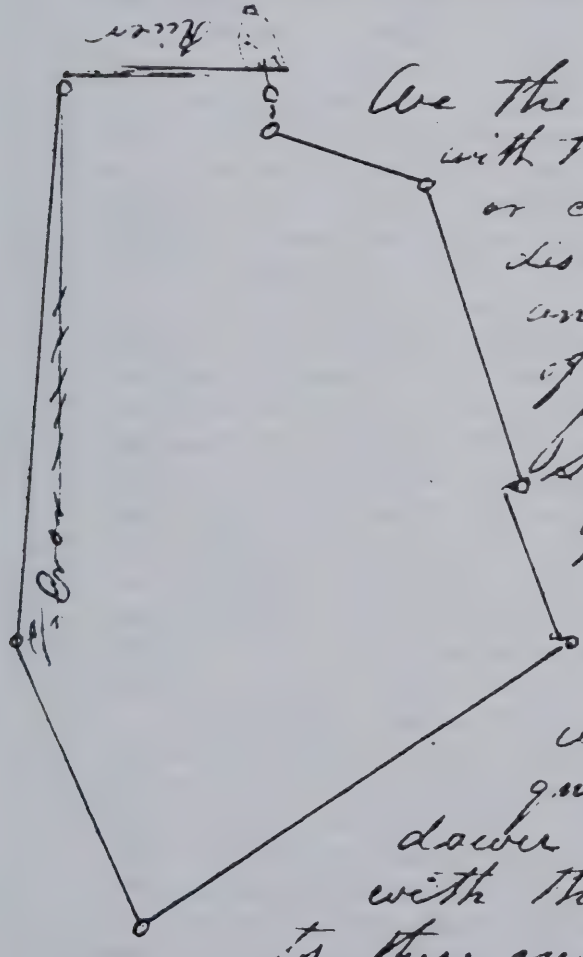
We know much more about Sarah's life and activities as a widow. Immediately after Nathan's death, Sarah petitioned at the next term of court, in August 1839, for her dower right. The Court appointed a committee to meet at the farm and to carry out Sarah's request according to law.

Sarah returned to Court a few months later, in February 1840, to petition for her

The drawing below is a sketch of the land that was allotted to Sarah Gann, widow of Nathan, as part of her dower. Note that the sketch shows the location of the river in relation to the tract of land.



We the undersigned being unconnected with the parties either by affinity or consanguinity and entirely disinterested having been summoned and duly sworn by the Sheriff of Washington County as a jury to allot and set off to Sarah Gann her dower out of the real estate of Nathan Gann her deceased husband after having duly considered and fully understood the whole matter do hereby assign to Sarah Gann for her dower the following described land with the erections and improvements thereon (Viz) a tract of land in the county of Washington on the North side dower right in Nathan's real estate. In that petition, she stated that Nathan had left her

"...as a widow and a great number of children & grand children, as his heirs at law, whose names will be here in after given"

We are grateful to Sarah for her care in naming and identifying so many of Nathan's descendants. She appears to be detail oriented for she also provided a careful description of the land which Nathan possessed at his death. Sarah asked in her petition for her dower in these lands. On March 30, 1840, the five-man committee appointed by the Court returned their report. They set off to Sarah one-third of Nathan's real estate.

As a result of a lawsuit brought in court by some of the heirs, the judge agreed that the property could not be fairly divided among the numerous heirs. Therefore, the Court ordered the remaining two-thirds of Nathan's real estate be sold so that the proceeds could be divided. Accordingly, the property was sold. Nathan and Sarah's son, Sampson Marion Gann, purchased the 200 acres.

Sarah probably continued to live on the farm. Of the five children remaining at home at the time of Nathan's death, three married within the next five years: Permelia Catherine, Sampson Marion, and Margaret Malinda. The two daughters moved out to set up housekeeping with their new husbands. Sampson Marion Gann, on the other hand, may very well have brought home his new bride, Maria Magdalena Good, to live under the family roof. Sarah probably needed his help in running the farm. One hundred acres had been set off to her in response to her dower petition and the remaining 200 acres had not yet been sold. We know Sampson stayed close by, if not actually on the home place, from the fact that he purchased the property. He was probably already farming it.

After Margaret Malinda's marriage in March 1844, Sarah was left with just two children at home, and perhaps Sampson and his new bride. On July 10, 1847, Sarah sold lands received from Nathan's estate to her son, Sampson M. Gann for $100.00.

On April 5, 1850, Sarah again sold land which had come from Nathan's estate. This was her dower portion of 100 acres, which she sold to her son-in-law, David Good, for $100.00. She made this sale in preparation for a move: Sarah was going to Texas! Other members of the family had already moved there. Perhaps, some had invited her to join them as she was getting older and being left alone by marriages of her children.

By 1853, Sarah and her 15 year old daughter, Sarah Sophronia, were in Titus County, Texas. We know little of the last few years of Sarah's life in Texas. We do know that she died in Titus County, Texas, on April 9, 1856. Her place of burial is unknown but it was most probably in Titus County.

Supplement No. 2 to Chapter 2:

Last Will and Testament of John Delaney

Whereas I John Delaney of Greene County & State of Tennessee, being weak in body, but of perfect mind & memory, & knowing not the time of the dissolution of my body, do make & Ordain this my last will & Testament in manner & form following: namely;

I will that my funeral Charges & all my Just debts be paid out of my estate by my Executors.

Item. I give & bequeath unto my daughter Anna Davis one hundred & fifty dollars, which she has received of her portion

I bequeath to my daughter Elizabeth Paulsell, fifty dollars, which she has received; & I also give unto her one hundred dollars more to be equally divided amongst her daughters on their arrival at a lawful age to receive it.

I bequeath to my son John Delany, the sum of one dollar.

I bequeath to my daughter Easter, deceased, & her heirs, one hundred & fifty dollars, which in her life time, she received of her portion.

Item, I bequeath to my daughter Margaret, deceased, as her heirs one hundred dollars, which she in her lifetime, received of her portion; I also give unto her two daughters, Peggy & Ruth, fifth dollars, to be equally divided between them, at their coming of age.

I bequeath to my son David Delany, the sum of one dollar.

I give to my son Jacob Delany, the sum of one dollar.

I give to my daughter Sarah Gann, Eighty seven dollars, which she has received of her portion; & I also give unto her sixty three dollars, to be equally divided between her two daughters, Jinny & Pamelia, when they shall be of lawful age to receive it.

I bequeath to my son Isaac Delany, the sum of forty dollars to be paid by my Executors out of my estate.

I bequeath to my daughter Ruth Gann, one hundred fifty dollars which she has received of her portion.

I bequeath to my daughter Jinny Kennedy, one hundred dollars which she has received of her portion: & I also give unto her fifty dollars more to be equally divided between her two daughters, Emeline and Maria, when they shall be of lawful age to receive it.

I bequeath to my son Daniel Delany, the sum of one dollar.

I bequeath to my son Wesley Delany, the sum of one dollar.

I do hereby ratify & confirm the deeds of conveyance for the several pieces of land by me executed to my sons John Delany, David Delany, Jacob Delany, Isaac Delany, Daniel Delany & Wesley Delany, to remain in full force & virtue as when executed.

I will that all my movable property be sold by my executors at public sale on twelve months credit from the day of sale which I will to take place within three months after my decease; & that the legatees be paid out of the monies arising from the sale, within twenty months from the time the money shall become due, arising from said sale, excepting, that to such of them as shall not be of age, in which case, theirs to be paid to them at that state of life.

I also bequeath the sum of twenty dollars to be paid out of my estate, after my decease, by my executors, for the preaching of the gospel in the Methodist Connexion; it be paid in yearly payments of two dollars per year, until the twenty dollars, aforesaid shall be all paid out.

I also will that the surplus money, arising from the sale of my personal estate, after paying off the above legacies, be equally divided amonst my daughters: that is to say, Anna shall have one seventh part; Elizabeth's daughters shall draw her part; Easter's daughters shall draw her part; Margaret's daughters shall draw her part; Sarah's daughters shall draw her part; Ruth to receive her share; & Jinny's daughters to draw her share.

Item, I do hereby constitute & ordain my two sons, John Delany, and Daniel Delany, the sole executors of this my last will & testament; & that they execute my said will without being bound to security for performance.

Now, I John Delany do hereby pronounce & declare this & no other to be my last will & Testament, disannuling all other will by me made, & Ratifying this, & this alone to be my last will & testament.

Signed, Sealed, pronounced & witnessed, this twenty second day of June in the year 1822, by us, who in his presence, & within the presence of each other have hereunto Subscribed our names as witnesses.

was attacked by a British Division commanded by Col Webster who led the advance behind the fence became alarmed & mostly fled & Col Wood of VA being their Commander said in a loud voice we are deserted, all the militia fled & some leaving their guns in the fence which enabled the enemy to plant their Cannon & Col Wood's Regt. & Col Brooks division & of Maryland & the Virginia others but the enemy suffered so severely that they did not follow up their advantage Cornwallis marched to attack their destination, under Cleveland Campbell & Tarleton marched towards Granby Court House & Col Lynch with the Franklin Brass with their Cannon & the 2d Battalion Maryland who were in service at Hillsborough & the Hall of Fame Col Lynch retained the horse Indians were mostly. Col Hubbard spoken of in the history of Carolina died within a half a mile of Guilford many years ago Later old Billy Dyson died in Rockingham Co. near a 100 years old his last days that stage from the above perhaps in some archive at Hillsborough you can find the most correct account that can be had on the spot & many other of the history of Carolina & Virginia & a collection of the papers

L. C. Draper Esq. Pres. Dear Sir

I can not doubt you some Possibly may vary from other Accounts such as is contradictory can be estimated as disputed facts I shall give no items as facts but such as I know as reliable I send you Life as it is written by John W. M. Bevagale who was raised at Kingston or other wise (U. W. Point) & to my own knowledge Writer to be mistaken as I heard it from the mans own language took notes at the excitement I mean Col Hubbard on page 69 Capt Henly on page 75 the latter was a moral reliable man of few words and he spoke nothing but the truth undeniable he was an uncle to my step mother daughter of Col Scott who commanded at Hanny Station Bladen Co. Spoken of in Life as it is place now called Buck Mill a P.O. that Capt Redford Killed that morning was a Brother to the two Crawfords Killed at Guilford C.H. in 1781 as to G.P. who I think was born in Maryland or Orally Rockingham Co. N.C. Emigrated to Bladen Washington Co. about the year 1775 or 8 his Service years were mostly the same as Col Lewis [illegible] of Kings Mountain Service May have retired to Mountain but G.P. did not come home for 10 Months according to Journal

The red man who had many plans to kill him he soon learned to catch them in their own trap I can give you one only as I might weary you in writing too much he lived near Crooked Broad in Senior Co he was several days from home it was a time of Peace which neither party strictly obeyed owing to old feuds when he came home his wife told him there had been a track goblins on a ledge at the back of the house for several mornings he said he would attend to it in the morning he fixed his gun and started up the River wife pointed the other way he took round and came to the place keeping the goblin between him & home after clos watching he discovered the Indian in a line with his gun resting on a limb pointing towards his home still goblins the Red Cat said he looked Long Dance what he called the gun) the goblin from hood he concealed his station and gave aim down some his boys asked did you kill Jimmy a d— d old goblin not yet to sat he knew The Indians gov Blood had been arrested but could prove nothing passing over Arabian Exploits which were many as related by himself & companions I come to his battle the Indian he saw a branching tooth of Deer (Stalk with his gun & previous he met with real Mate they sat down to refresh themselves with nuts proceeding as his pair grazed dumplings Indian from his stalk some of his buckle & venison sat a few bites heated got a head of his

Aspetite he sprang to his feet drew a frozair dum jaking and hit Hubbard over his eye cutting it badly (I have seen the scar) Watts jumped on his Indian Pony Loid down and Laid whip and gal at full speed 30 yards before Hubbard got ready to shoot the rider fole H, must to stop and raised him up he died hard the first time I ever heard him say he was sorry for his victim Col Kelly don argued with me that his name was Butler but H said Watts and as the Cattle friends tried to have M Hubbard killed after old Col left I still think it was Watts the killing was no disputed under circumstances described Which brought trouble on the old Col again as the governor Ordered his arrest he left with Reid Bean & man named House fled to New Orleans then under Banner it must have been through Beauregard Influence they broke into the Cathedral and took the Valuables in keeping across Lake Pontchartrain House & Hubbard were taken prisoner Bean was an Indian man man Duran a Moor and escaped they put Hall ft in the Irons which House died the country was then sold to the United Stats a petition was taken for Hubbard & Kelly Offering pardon if to US governor of Louisiana by his son Ben Hubbard and the old Col was released and got home after 15 years absence his wife never would live with living any more he lived with his son Matthew within a half Mile of my fathers after he was 78 I have rided along Shell birds and squirrels no difference Stalking or running he was fond of to bring down the game A wonderful Man

He was in every campaign against the Indians after receiving that Scar was one excepted and one that Scar was not present the Battle of Tippecanoe Gen Harrison at Lexington G.T.T. Dunn in command he said in Command he was determined he would not march up the Mountains This was his last campaign according to General he was killed at his Iron works with the Hammer 5 miles South of Jacksonville on Muddy River about 1804 where his tomb rocks

According the last information I have Col James Hubbard was a native of N C married a Miss Henderson of a respectable family raised a family of Children different in morals being a moral respectable people to their country affording all dued now I think

As to the old Col he was a man expert in fire arms such a Marksman I never seen before nor since it made not difference with what position his prey occupied running flying or any other motion at the twinkling of an eye the old Marksman brought it down I know what I have with (twice own eyes his feats in killing game he was a terror to man his enemys whom they Knew was a dead shot and never failed according to his own declaration he killed 35 Indians which was not disputed by those who knew him but too crafty to be decoyed he continued his warfare against the

Old Col Hubbard remained at his home in Tenn until about the year 1825 When on a visit to his son in Warren Co becoming unwell he went to an Indian Trad drug & proprietor being absent his wife through a mistake gave him arsenic for Calomel which took effect ended his life at the age of 82 dying in his bed and not by Indians

If you have not a Book called Life as it is I will send it to you you may draw some items of interest from it I expect you have Haywood & Ramseys Histories

Also if you desire the items of the imprisonment of Capt Handley his Capture & torture are similar to that of Butler spoken of in the life of Boone the Indian was an uncle to my Step Mother & have heard him narrate the matter with tears

I will give you so far as I know the items of old Billy Tipton I think his children all dead his youngest child would be 20 years older than my self

Yours respectfully
